

BPL/PLC has wonderful potential, however current power lines are not designed to contain high frequency signals. the electrical noise will be virtually deafening to many services. until sufficient shielding is in place to prevent interference to other services, please do not allow BPL/PLC technology. There are many technologies that can provide adequate bandwidth without such interference, including DTH satellite service. BPL/PLC is unnecessary and will be more pain than gain.